Kidnap Victim Found

Body of Weinberger Baby Is Discovered Covered by Leaves 8 Miles From Home

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP)—The decomposed body of kidnapped Peter Weinberger was found today in roadside shrubbery 51 days after he was taken from the patio of his Westbury, Long Island, home.

It was found where FBI agents said Angelo J. LaMarca, a cab driver, told them he had abandoned the month-old child on July 5, the day after he took the baby.

LaMarca, 31, father of two children, was arrested yesterday by FBI agents and Nassau County police and charged with kidnapping. Financial difficulties apparently caused his act. He had asked $2,000 ransom.

More than 50 Nassau County police and FBI agents moved on the abandoned spot at 9:15 a. m. It was situated alongside a cut-off road from Northern State Parkway leading to Plainview where LaMarca lives. It is only 8 miles east of the Weinberger home.

Forming a line an arm's length apart, the searchers moved slowly through the underbrush shortly after 10:30 a. m. the body was found.

Asst. Chief Inspector James Farrell said the baby had not been buried. He apparently had been placed in the underbrush, then summer storms whipped up honeysuckle vines and leaves to blanket the body.

It was not known whether the child had died or was killed before he was abandoned.

"Even if the child was alive when it was placed on the ground, it may well constitute murder," Nassau County Dist. Atty. Frank Gulotta said.

Conviction of kidnapping, like first degree murder, carries a maximum penalty of death in New York.

Authorities said LaMarca admitted abandoning the child after being frightened away by the presence of police and newsmen when he showed up at an appointed spot to pick up $2,000 ransom money.

A ransom note was found on the patio of the Weinberger home where the baby had been taking a nap in his carriage.

LaMarca, stocky, dark-haired, and wearing a small mustache, was picked up at his home in Plainview early yesterday by an FBI agent and a Nassau County policeman.

Since the kidnapping, thousands of handwriting specimens were scrutinized from public records and compared with the ransom note and other letters received by the Weinbergers. It was not disclosed how, and from what source, authorities picked up the writing clue which led them to LaMarca.

Police said the kidnapping seemed to have been a one-man job. LaMarca's only previous arrest record was on a bootlegging charge for which he was given a suspended sentence last year.

LaMarca moved to Plainview four months ago from another section of Long Island.

It was said he does not know the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weinberger, but prepared the ransom note in advance and then went looking for a child to kidnap.

Police said LaMarca cited about $1,800 in debts — including back payments on a refrigerator and storm windows — as motivating the kidnapping.

Neighbors of LaMarca said he, his wife Donna and their two children, Vincent, 9, and Vivian, 6, were quiet but friendly people and that the children were polite and well-mannered.

Police said members of LaMarca's family were not involved in the case.

A Helping Hand

The weatherman must be a State Fair fan, because he kept it comfortable again, perhaps in order to help reach that half-million mark once more.

Generally fair tonight and Saturday; low tonight 55-60; high Saturday near 90.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 68, 84 at 1 p. m., and 86 at 2 p. m. Low Thursday night 65.

The temperature one year ago today, high 93, low 63; two years ago, high 94, low 72, with a trace of moisture; and three years ago, high 94, low 68, with .09 inch of rain.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks 54.6 steady.

Eisenhower Makes Appeal Instead of Blast at Demos

By JOSEPH A. DEAR
Democrat-Capital
Convention Bureau

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 24—What's the political outlook now that the conventions have sent their candidates off to a flying start?

First, this election isn't in the bag, President Eisenhower, hero-leader of the Republicans, could lose millions of votes by sneezing at the wrong time.

Even if the GOP could be sure that wouldn't happen, complacency might be expensive. The tactical situation of Adlai Stevenson is stronger this time. He can go over to the offensive. He won't have to defend the record of the Truman administration. And he has issues, which he did not have four years ago.

An inkling of the Republican strategy can be gleaned from a quick glance at acceptance speeches of Ike and Dick. The GOP was the party of the future. They attempted to prove it by pointing to the record of the past—the past four years.

That's why there was a detectable defensive tone about Ike's speech. That might be good politics. The late FDR spent much of the 1936 campaign defending the record of the New Deal. He won hands down.

Incidentally, Ike has lifted a page from FDR's book. Almost every Republican who spoke before the convention here dug the Democrats. But Ike asked for the support of "straight thinking Democrats" and of "discerning Democrats."

He didn't scatter blast every member of the opposition. In the same way, FDR confined his criticisms to Republican leaders. He always hoped some Republicans would be for him.

The tone of Stevenson's acceptance speech was more aggressive than Ike's or Nixon's. Except on one issue, Nixon made a direct pitch for the Negro vote. Stevenson was somewhat defensive on the issue of civil rights and what the Democratic platform had to say about it.

Even if Stevenson's tactical position is better now than it was four years ago, he still faces an uphill fight. This time he's grabbed the crusader's mantle, but the country may not be in the mood for his brand of crusade.

There are clouds beyond our borders. The economy here has its soft spots. Adlai's pitch a week ago suggested that only painful effort would bring us to the promised land. Ike's appeal was sunnier, less demanding, and may go better.

Nixon will carry the ball for the GOP, at least during the early phase of the campaign. He said just that at the convention. If the Democrats got under Ike's skin, as his aides say they did, he gave no inkling of his irritation here.

Demand On Suez Readied

Five Nations Move Swiftly to Bring 18 Countries' Moral Force Before Egypt

LONDON (AP)—A committee of five nations moved swiftly today to bring before Egypt the moral force of 18 countries demanding international control of the Suez Canal.

Prime Minister Robert Menzies of Australia led the committee through a session he described as "very urgent and extremely confidential" to map strategy for approaching Egyptian President Nasser.

Menzies was named chairman of the special Suez Canal Committee set up after India and Russia blocked the sending of a delegation under auspices of the full 22-nation Suez conference, which wound up eight days of discussions yesterday.

Sitting with Menzies were delegates representing a cross-section of powers directly concerned with freedom of navigation in the canal—the United States, Sweden, Iran and Ethiopia.

Emerging from the first private meeting, Menzies was close-mouthed. He told newsmen, "It is so tremendously important that I feel we shall all behave like Trappist monks."

Earlier, an aide indicated the Egyptian ambassador to Britain would be sounded out on fixing a time and place for meeting Nasser. Before the meeting, Menzies himself had said this would be considered. Secretary of State Dulles took part in the deliberations.

The majority's proposal is that Egypt, which nationalized the canal July 26, should turn its operation over to an international board on which she would be represented.

The French stepped up military preparations in case Egypt turned down the idea. But French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau back in Paris from the conference, said even if that happened, further talks would precede any thought of using force.

Soviet Communist leader Nikita S. Khrushchev has said that in case of war over the canal, the Arabs would have help.

"The Arabs will not stand alone," he told ambassadors attending a Romanian reception in Moscow yesterday. "It will be a just war and there will be volunteers."

The west was hopeful that the door was open for negotiation. But Nasser has emphasized Egypt's claim to sole control over the 103-mile waterway since announcing July 26 his government had nationalized the Suez Canal Co. He also refused to attend the 22-nation Suez Canal conference, which ended here yesterday, and challenged its right to take any action.

Eighteen of the 22 nations at the parley supported the plan for an international control board and named the five nations to take the proposal to Nasser. Russia, Indonesia and Ceylon backed an Indian proposal for an international board to have only advisory functions.

The West apparently pinned its hopes on the view of some that Nasser has indicated a conciliatory attitude — so long as any move does not involve the surrender of Egyptian sovereignty.

Australian Prime Minister Robert Menzies heads the group picked to approach the Egyptian President. Other members are from the United States, Sweden, Iran and Ethiopia. Veteran career diplomat Loy Henderson was named by Secretary of State Dulles to represent the United States.

Boy Leaves Hospital After Cheating Death

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A nine-year-old schoolboy, who won a 150-mile race for life early this month after being hit by a car, left the hospital for home yesterday.

A spokesman for St. Louis Children's Hospital said John David Kinsley, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kinsley of Crocker, Mo., would have no after-effects.

The youth was hit by a car while on a picnic Aug. 5, knocked in the air and hit by the auto again. The hood ornament of the car pierced his back, entering the lower lobe of his right lung.

Well-Known Democrat Dies in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, (AP)—Jerry P. O'Donnell, widely known Democrat in northwest Missouri, died in a Veterans Hospital here yesterday several hours after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage while visiting friends.

The 49-year-old Brookfield insurance agent served three terms as president of the Linn County Young Democrats. In 1940 he was treasurer of the state Young Democrats.

Surviving are a daughter, three brothers and two sisters.

Living Cost Takes Jump Second Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living jumped seven-tenths of one percent in July for the second successive month, sending consumer prices to a record high and bringing wage boosts to 1 1/4 million workers.

The increase means that the consumer's dollar has lost more than one penny of purchasing power during the past two months and two cents in the past year.

Auto workers, under contracts adjusted to living costs, will obtain a 4-cent hourly wage increase. So will some 90,000 electrical workers.

Aircraft, farm equipment and some other workers, will gain three-to-five-cent increases.

The July index, issued today by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics stood at 117 percent of the 1947-49 average.

BLS Commissioner Ewan Clague told reporters:

"It surprised us. We didn't think it would be that much."

The July increase was attributed largely to what Clague called "super-seasonal" peaks in fresh fruits and vegetable prices. But all other major prices entering the cost of the city family's market basket rose too—rents, transportation, services and recreation among them.

Factory take-home pay dropped about 32 cents. This was less than normal for July, but the simultaneous rise in prices meant that dropped about 1 per cent in the month. It still was the highest ever recorded for July, however.

Clague said the index might show "some small increase" for this month.

Search Crews Find Debris From Plane

TOKYO (AP)—Search planes and ships today found wreckage and two empty life rafts presumed to be from a U.S. Navy patrol plane which disappeared after radioing it was being attacked off the Red China coast.

First reports of the finding said there was no indication of what happened to the 16 American airmen aboard the missing plane, a four-engine P4M Mercator.

Navy officials refused to speculate on the possibility that Communist boats had picked up at least some of the men. The State Department has asked Britain, which has diplomatic relations with the Peiping regime, to find out if the Reds have any information about the plane and its crew.

Navy spokesmen at the huge Yokosuka base said the first wreckage and rafts were found floating a few miles south of a Communist-held island about 100 miles southeast of Shanghai.

That put the wreckage nearly 200 miles north of the position given by the P4M when it radioed at 1:25 a. m. Thursday it was being attacked by unidentified aircraft.

However, the wreckage was found in approximately the same area, south of the Saddle Islands off the Bay of Hangchow, at which Peiping radio said Chinese Communist aircraft intercepted and damaged a "Chieng Kai-shek plane" early Thursday.

Chiang's Nationalist air force on Formosa said it had no planes in the area at the time and none of its planes were missing.

The Communist broadcast said the plane's airmen attacked trespassers over several Communist-held islands and flew off toward the southeast after it was hit.

Stevenson Protests Eisenhower Charge

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson protested today against what he described as President Eisenhower's "ill-considered charge that the Democrats set group against group."

And he declared in a statement that "it is too bad that the Republican record bears so little resemblance" to Eisenhower description of it.

The Democratic presidential nominee made his comments as he awaited at his farm near Libertyville the arrival of Clayton Fritchey, his new press secretary, and other campaign officials for further conferences on next week's flying trip to lay the groundwork for rallying Democratic voters for the election in November.

Another Record Broken

Thursday Number Batters Last Year's By 2,500; Missouri Press Day Friday

It is Missouri Press, St. Joseph, Jefferson City, Joplin, and Northwest Missouri Day at the Missouri State Fair. Indications of early arrivals at the fair grounds Friday were that the fair will equal if not pass, the usual Friday attendance.

Many Missouri newspaper persons arrived early to get an opportunity to visit the grounds and see the livestock and other agriculture interests of the fair before turning to the entertainment side in the afternoon such as the harness and running horse races. L. C. Carpenter, Commissioner of Agriculture, early Friday said it appeared as if more editors and publishers, as well as newspaper employees, would be at the fair than have attended in several years.

The members of the press will again be guests of Carpenter and W. H. Ritzenthaler, secretary of the fair at a buffet luncheon on the lawn of the secretary's home, at 6 p. m.

Missouri Fair again may reach the half-million mark in spite of this year which have been slight, but slight increases in the middle of the week have helped to get the attendance high. In 1955 the attendance reached an all time high of $42,175. This year the attendance through Thursday totaled 382,758 as compared with 390,044 in 1955. The attendance Thursday was 83,146, bettering the mark of 1955 which was 80,568.

Modified car races on the half-mile track will be held tonight. It is the first time in the history of the Missouri fair that the race track has been lighted for any type of racing.

The Grand Old Opry will be the entertainment at the grandstand on Sunday night, while Saturday's program at night will be the Trans-World Thrill Show.

The horse show ends tonight at the Coliseum, with several interesting stakes to be held.

Among the visitors on the fair grounds Thursday was a delegation from Springfield, who changed "their day" from Tuesday to Thursday. The group was headed by Mayor Warren M. Turner and Dr. Durwood G. Hall, president of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce.

Included in the delegation were Arch Bay, postmaster; William E. Dauer, Chamber of Commerce manager; W. T. Keltner of the Chamber of Commerce, and Leo Spradling, who arranged for the visitation to the Missouri fair.

One of Missouri's living famed athletes of years gone by was honored Thursday afternoon at the fair when Brutus Hamilton, star track and field coach, was presented (Please turn to page 2, column 3)

Ike Fixes Peace Goal In Speech

President Expresses 'Great Satisfaction' For Same Team

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—President Eisenhower fixed "peace for all time" as the goal of the Republican "party of the future" in accepting formally its nomination for another four years in the White House.

Accepting "humbly but confidently" command of the GOP's 1956 campaign for national leadership, he told cheering delegates at last night's windup session of the party's centennial convention it is not enough to promise "the young who fight the wars" that there will be "peace in our time."

"There is only one peace now, and that is peace for all time," he declared.

He said thermonuclear war had become "not just tragic, but preposterous."

"With such weapons," he said, "there can be no victory for anyone. Plainly, the objective now must be to see that such a war does not occur at all."

Beaming at the thunderous reception given him and his running mate, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Eisenhower pitched his bid for re-election primarily on his promise to work for "a brave and shining new world . . . a world in which back-breaking toil and long hours will not be necessary."

Nixon told the delegates shortly before accepting his second-place nomination that "we have peace in the world today, but we are not going to rest on our laurels and be satisfied with the achievements of 3 1/2 years."

It was a gay, colorful convention session that stormed approval for its two nominees. "I like Ike" balloons floated down from the ceiling, Eisenhower joined in bouncing them around as he waited through preliminary ceremonies on the platform to begin his formal speech.

When he arose before the throng, the 65-year-old Eisenhower said he wanted to express his "great satisfaction" that the convention had decided to keep intact for this year's race the same team that won in 1952 against a Democratic ticket headed by the same man the GOP's opposition has named this year — Adlai E. Stevenson. Stevenson's running mate this year is Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

The han was purchased earlier this week by William D. Cruce, executive secretary of the state committee, for $31 a pound. It was cured by Mrs. Mary Burger Keil of California, Mo.

Atkinson, who is chairman of the United Republican Fund Committee in Missouri, said the President told him the most important thing was to get out the vote in the November election.

Atkinson said he reported the Republicans would have a 50-50 chance to carry Missouri "if they get out and work."

The Republican congressional nominee from the 5th congressional district of Kansas City, Lem T. Jones Jr., also called on the President with a group of other congressional candidates.

He had his campaign picture taken with Eisenhower. Jones is running against Rep. Richard Bolling, Kansas City Democrat.

May Decide School Suit Early in 1957

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — A ruling on a damage and injunction suit against the Moberly School Board by eight Negro teachers, dropped with desegregation of schools there, probably will not be made until early next year.

Federal Judge Roy W. Harper made that announcement yesterday in taking the suit under advisement after a four-day trial without a jury.

The teachers asked for $4,000 damages each and an injunction against "discrimination in hiring practices."

Judge Palmer granted a 75-day period for filing of briefs, to start when the plaintiffs are supplied a transcript of trial testimony.

Richard Chamier, school board president, testified the racial question was not considered in making the decision in April 1955, not to renew the eight teachers' contracts.

Stipulations noted that other board members would testify along the same lines as Chamier. Two Moberly newspapermen, the only other defense witnesses, testified they covered the meeting at which the decision to drop the Negro teachers was made. They told the court they heard no discussion of the racial question.

It was brought out that the Lincoln School for Negroes, where the teachers were employed, was closed with integration of Moberly's public schools. Earlier witnesses testified the school board hired 14 white teachers shortly after dropping the Negro teachers.

One of the plaintiffs testified the teachers met with Chamier just before they were notified their contracts would not be renewed. She said Chamier was asked whether the Negro teachers would be retained after integration, and that he replied:

"If you know the trouble we're having in integrating the pupils of the school system, you wouldn't ask that question. Somebody has to lose in this proposition."

Mrs. Llus Harris, one of the teacher-plaintiffs, testified that former Superintendent of Schools Carl Henderson told her no Negro teachers would be hired by the board for five years and that he didn't know what would happen after that.

Net Income To Be Higher For Farmers

WASHINGTON, Mo. — The 1956 net income of U. S. farmers will be somewhat higher than the $11,300,000,000 they earned in 1955, halting a five-year downward drift — the Agriculture Department says.

Acting Secretary of Agriculture True D. Morse said yesterday this prediction is based on figures for the first half of 1956 and estimates for the remainder. It "will be the first year-to-year increase since 1951," he added.

A department statement made a specific estimate of 1956 farm income. But it said higher prices in the second half of 1956 and approximately 300 million dollars of government payments under the soil bank and wool programs will account for the gain.

The statement set farm marketing receipts for the first seven months of 1956 at $14,300,000,000, slightly above the corresponding 1955 period.

Although total farm production is expected to be smaller this year, the department forecast a further expansion of "overall economic activity, now at a record level."

Production estimates said the cotton crop will be down 8 percent, the corn crop down 3 percent and oats and barley crops combined down about 21 percent.

"Wheat production is about the same as last year," the report continued. "Soybeans, for which demand has been strong, are expected to be up about a fifth."

"Output of livestock may top the record level of 1955, reflecting a big increase for poultry and a smaller gain for dairy products."

sented to the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame as the 1956 honoree. Ceremonies honoring Hamilton were held at the grandstand during the harness racing program.

Bob Busby, of the Kansas City Star sports department, gave a brief introduction of Hamilton, reviewing his past as an athlete and his present position as athletic director of the University of California. He presented him the Hall of Fame plaque.

Stan Isle, sports editor of the Moberly Monitor-Index, who is chairman of the Sports Hall of Fame Committee, introduced Busby.

"I am deeply touched and humbly grateful for the honor bestowed upon me," Hamilton told a packed grandstand. "I shall always associate this honor with my memories and this lovely day. I am ever deeply grateful to the fine people of Missouri who were interested in my behalf to be selected as one to be remembered in the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame."

"I shall always remember this day and take back with me to my adopted state, California, the memories of this day," Hamilton concluded.

He then introduced his mother, Mrs. Sid J. Hamilton, 88 years old, Harrisonville, who came with her son to see him receive the honor. He also introduced his brothers and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hamilton, Neodesha, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hamilton, of Kansas City.

A delegation of 30 Harrisonville citizens headed by Mayor Arthur Bybee, attended the ceremonies and the fair, to see their "Favorite Son" Brutus honored.

Coach Don Faurot, athletic director of the University of Missouri, himself an honoree of the Hall of Fame in 1953, attended the affair.

Mystery Program Excites Operator At Southwest Bell

A telephone which had the handset knocked from its cradle, flashed a light at the telephone office. "Help, help," a voice sounded over the phone as the telephone operator answered to take the number.

The chief operator was notified and listened in at a most opportune time. "Help," she heard a voice cry over the telephone. She immediately called the police after a check was made on where the telephone was located. The police sent two cars to the scene — a business firm.

One car guarded the firms back door and the officer in the other went to the front door and the proprietor opened up. "What's going on here?" the officer asked. "Not a thing," replied the owner. "Where's your telephone?" he was asked and, when told, the officer went to it.

A shelf had dropped down knocking the handset from the phone, and beside the phone, still blaring forth, were "Help, help," the words of a mystery over a radio sitting next to the telephone.

The officer picked up the telephone and the chief operator was still there. He informed her of what happened, and police headquarters was also notified.

The owner was taking advantage of the half-holiday when all stores closed on Sedalia Day at the Fair. He was checking merchandise and marking tickets, unaware that his radio was doing so many people in so few minutes.

Conventions Are Problem For Networks

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Although it's very early to mention 1960, something will have to be done about television coverage of the national political conventions in that year.

Despite the fact the major networks performed an extraordinary feat in covering the Democrats in Chicago and the Republicans in San Francisco, this year, the widely advertised two week spectacular was a television flop on these scores:

1. Financial-wise, the networks took a shellacking. Coverage cost them a minimum of 17 million dollars, of which sponsors footed about 14 millions. This does not take into account the regular programs which were pre-empted.

2. Audience-wise, the networks apparently failed to compensate in prestige for what it cost in cash. A thorough compilation of estimated viewers will not be available for some time. But a Trendex rating for the first three nights of the Democratic Convention shows the audience proportionately behind the estimated five-night audience of the 1952 Democratic Convention.

3. Political-wise, it seems doubtful if either the Democrats or Republicans succeeded in winning many friends or influencing many people via television. Astute politicians of both camps, trying to tailor their convention proceedings to TV, failed to recognize that television is basically show business. And a basic maxim of show business is that it's not enough just to be on; you have to be hot when you're on.

When Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler publicly rapped CBS for failure to show an entire party film on opening night, he sounded a depressing note.

Why must a television network be committed to covering every minute of a political convention? It should not be, and it's reasonably certain that in 1960 it will not be.

The proceedings of many days at both conventions were worthy of little more than a couple of hours of audience viewing.

It's possible that the political tensions in 1960 will be such that almost full-length coverage of the conventions will be indicated. Whatever the situation then, however, television journalism should treat it as the TV journalists view its merits—without political harassment.

With TV production costs rising steadily, the networks may have to tell the major parties: "We'll have to do it our way—or not at all."

Bead and Motor Noise Traps Hit-Run Driver

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A bead from a broken necklace and peculiar humming noise in the motor of Raymond Clemmons' automobile were instrumental in sending him to prison yesterday for a hit-and-run death.

Police said his car made an unusual noise because the front end had been damaged, just as a witness to the hit-and-run death of Mrs. Julianne M. Laursen described it. Mrs. Laursen was struck July 2. Clemmons admitted striking her, fleeing in panic, returning, placing her body in his car and dumping it in an alley.

Most of the beads of her necklace, broken by the impact, were found where she was struck.

One matching bead was under the floor mat of Clemmons' car.

Star Thinks Oscar Award Came Early

By Hal McClure

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Shirley Booth leaned back in her chair beside her swimming pool and said, "I wish I hadn't won the Academy award so soon."

Not that the Oscar—for her 1952 portrayal of a frumpy hausfrau in "Come Back Little Sheba"—has done her any harm.

"But, I felt it came much too quickly. It was my first motion picture, you know. I always think you should work up to some things," she said.

Her success on the stage with "Sheba" and subsequent plays came after many years of hard work, frustration and tears. Miss Booth, by the way, made her Broadway debut in 1925 with a young fellow named Humphrey Bogart.

The red-haired actress is a temporary Hollywoodian while appearing in the play, "The Desk Set."

"It's a funny thing," she went on, "when success arrives in your later years, no one is envious at all. Older people hope the same lightning might strike them; the younger folks aren't a bit jealous because they know you've been working for it a long time."

Shirley, who doesn't look her 49 years, recalled a conversation with her ex-husband, Ed Gardner, creator of "Duffy's Tavern."

"Ed said, 'Shirley, people envy me my success, but they all hope you'll make it to the top one of these days. They say, good ol' Shirley, she's been pluggin' away a long time.'"

Long - memorized radio fans might recall that Shirley played the original "Miss Duffy" on the radio for two years. She and Gardner were divorced in 1943.

Shirley interrupts her busy schedule at the end of the month for a two-month tour of England, France and Italy. She returns to San Francisco and several more weeks with "The Desk Set". In January, she starts, "Next of Kin," her third motion picture.

She plumped some pillows behind her, leaned back and sighed: "Ol' Shirley—maybe a little more tired — is still pluggin' away."

Son of Opponent To Rhee Wins Seat In National Assembly

SEOUL (AP)—A son of Syngman Rhee's strongest opponent in the recent presidential election — the late Patrick Henry Shinicky—has won his father's National Assembly seat in an emotion-packed election.

The elder Shinicky died just before the presidential election but his name on the ballot drew a heavy vote.

Final returns from Kwangju, home district of the former head of the opposition party, gave Shinicky's son Shin Ya Kyeen a slim winning edge over the candidate from President Rhee's Liberal party. Shin will serve the remaining two years of his father's legislative term.

The Democrats drafted 38-year-old Shin, who teaches Chinese at the foreign language college in Seoul, and put up their biggest guns to stump for him.

Need Airport Expansion...

Modernization and expansion of Sedalia's Memorial Airport in East Sedalia adjacent Highway 50 is recognized by those agencies which can do something about it, the Chamber of Commerce and the city's airport committee. Both have this matter on their agendas.

This is in line with the thinking of small plane operators and business and industrial men of the community who more than ever in this air age are finding it desirable to travel quickly to keep appointments.

A recent estimate presented local groups interested in Sedalia's airport future was to the effect that improvements may cost $100,000. If this would qualify the field for use by commercial feeder lines, the amount does not seem excessive.

Other communities the size of Sedalia, and some smaller, have already set wheels in motion to modernize and expand existing facilities, or build new ones. The federal government last month started spending 50 millions to help cities and towns handle bigger air traffic. There is no reason why Sedalia should ignore such financial help if it can be made available. Methods of procedure can be obtained from the Civil Aeronautics Administration in Washington.

Another thing Sedalia needs to do is provide markers on flattop roofs of large buildings as directional guides to the Sedalia Memorial Airport. Often operators of smaller planes must depend on ground reference points for safe navigation. Ten-foot letters of bright yellow can be read easily from a distance. One good place for such a Sedalia marker would be on top of the new water storage tank at Main and Massachusetts.

Missouri might borrow a page from the book of aviation progress in Ohio. In that state the Ohio Aviation Board through use of funds made available by the Ohio legislature as far back as 1952 pays for this sponsored program of painting ten-foot directional letters in appropriate locations. The entire southern part of Ohio is blanketed with air markers, and the program is being extended to encompass the entire state. All markers arrow-point to the nearest landing field with miles distant recorded. These have been a great help to flyers in distress who otherwise might have to make hazardous landing in corn and wheat fields.

Sedalia's continued interest in aviation is encouraging albeit progress has been slow considering what has been accomplished in neighboring Columbia and Jefferson City. Before we are too advanced into the jet age of flying we hope Sedalia makes landing room for larger motor-driven planes to serve the increasing needs of our community for this type of transportation service.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Someday A Woman For Vice-President

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The Democrats at Chicago seriously considered putting a Catholic on their ticket for vice president. The Republicans at San Francisco considered — less seriously — the idea of nominating a woman.

The question came up in a closed door argument of Maine delegates over nominating the only lady who has ever been elected to the senate twice in the history of the U. S. A. Paradoxically, it was Ex-Senator Owen Brewster of Maine, who once frowned on Sen. Margaret Chase Smith for re-election, who this time rallied to her defense. Senator Smith, in turn, had once been quite chilly to Brewster's re-election. But at San Francisco, Brewster was Sir Lancelot in defense of the lady.

It was agreed that Senator Smith's name would be placed in nomination "if feasible." However, John Weston, the Fryeburg horse and cattle dealer, was picked to make the nominating speech, instead of Brewster.

Women's Hope

It hasn't made headlines, but thousands of women all over the U. S. A. have been intensely interested in moves to name or block a woman as vice president.

At the Chicago GOP convention in 1952, Senator Smith had 250 pledged delegates, when suddenly Governor Dewey sent word by Mary Donlan, now on the Court of Claims, that Mrs. Smith's name could not be placed in nomination.

He feared that many Taft delegates, then bitterly opposed to Eisenhower, would vote for Senator Smith in revenge for Taft's defeat, thus prevent Nixon from winning on the first ballot.

At a result, Claire Boothe Luce rose on the convention floor and without consulting Mrs. Smith said that Senator Smith had asked that her name not be placed before the convention. This brought a storm of protest from women, especially Judge Sarah Hughes, president of the Business and Professional Women.

GOP Merry-Go-Round

Convention presiding officer Joe Martin should now have the biggest individual collection of gavel in the country. This is the fifth time Martin has presided over a convention. Each time, Vermont admirers have sent him a batch of gavel. In addition, Martin is the proud owner of the world's biggest gavel, a gift of California Republicans and carved out of a Redwood tree that was a sapling at the start of the Christian era. Joe didn't bring this one to San Francisco. It weighs 60 pounds. . . . Secretary Dulles was most unhappy at being absent from San Francisco. He was planning to be a star performer in writing a foreign policy plank for the GOP platform which would tell of his many so-called diplomatic victories.

Big-Hearted Soviet

Things are really looking up for the Soviet worker. Now he can no longer be thrown in jail for quitting his job.

This big-hearted change of policy from the Kremlin is disclosed in an article in "The Monthly Labor Review" published by the Department of Labor. The author is Jerzy G. Glikman who is with the social science division of the Rand Corporation.

He points out that formerly Soviet workers could be imprisoned for such crimes as resigning their jobs, absenteeism, tardiness or a number of other minor infractions.

The change, according to Glikman, stems from the fact that Russian rulers fear they can't keep the new generation of workers in hand under continued heavy discipline. And they apparently hope to coax better production with methods less harsh.

Under the new labor decrees those guilty of infractions of work discipline will not be hauled into court. Instead they can be fined, fired, demoted or deprived of bonuses and seniority by management.

The World Today

National Managers vs. Political Parties

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Democrats and Republicans have come pretty close to asking voters to choose between two teams of national managers rather than between conflicting political parties.

The two parties—judged by the promises in their campaign platforms and not by the corny and heated-over oratory of their convention speakers—think pretty much alike.

What each seems to be saying is: "We're nicer than they are and we can do everything better."

There is no basic difference in the promises made. Both pledged to retain the progress and programs of the New and Fair Deals as extended by the Eisenhower administration. Both offered some improvements. Neither proposed radical changes.

If this seems a strange complacency in political parties seeking authority to run the country, the explanation is simple enough: the nation itself is pretty complacent because of its record-high employment, wages and savings, the relative stability in living costs.

This isn't how the politicians will be presenting their case from now until the Nov. 6 election. Rather they will sound like the Hatfields and McCoy's.

To hear them, their party has a monopoly on wisdom, integrity and simple decency while the other is a collection of oafs, ham-merheads and assorted rascals. If you have any doubts about the similarity between the Democratic and Republican parties, ask yourself: if you were a Frenchman or a Russian reading the platforms, what differences could you discern?

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

With the firing of a salute of 21 guns by Battery F 128th Field Artillery, Missouri National Guard, the 31st annual Missouri State Fair opened Saturday, Aug. 22. In the agricultural exhibits by counties, Cass took first, Johnson second, Chariton third, Lafayette fourth and Stoddard fifth. Seven other counties received lesser rank.

Stop signs were placed at Broadway and Grand on Highway 50, which also carried traffic from Highway 65.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Byng and son, William Latimer Byng, Springfield, Mo., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Yeater, 624 West Seventh.

The Sedalia band, directed by William Callis, composed of 20 musicians, returned from Tipton, where it furnished music at the Tipton Fair.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Quinn Brothers and John Quinn purchased two buildings on South Ohio occupied by the Mertz drug store and the Yanow Furniture Co. The drug stock was also purchased from the Mertz estate and Leo Meyers, pharmacist here, was to remain in charge.

E. T. Major, secretary of the Missouri State Fair, was home from a business trip to Jefferson City, leaving his son, True Major, there to visit relatives.

C. M. Hunt, a former trainmaster for the Missouri Pacific here, one of the company officials in St. Louis offices, was here in connection with his official duties.

Fortunately for the country the two presidential candidates—President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson—are both moderate, temperate, restrained. Both have a knowledge of the world that extends far beyond the shores of the United States.

Either man, if elected, could be depended upon to work with earnest good will to carry out, as best he can, the promises made in the party platforms. But either's leadership would be limited by certain political realities which sometimes get overlooked during a campaign.

These are some of the realities: The political parties differ less between the official parties as a whole than within the parties themselves. Both are generally made up of liberals, conservatives, and reactionaries. At the moment the conservatives dominate both parties and give them their tone and philosophy.

The real test of how much either party can make good on its promises will come after election day and in Congress. Most of the promises—if they are to be kept—will have to be translated into law.

It is in Congress that the conflicting elements within the winning party will attempt to make good on the promises or whittle them down or ignore them. It is there that a president's program can be made or broken.

Communist Tells of Tooth Extraction in Red Hospital

By DAVID J. ROADS

(For HAL BOYLE)

HONG KONG (AP)—It took a large economy-size toothache to drive Po Hsiao-chou to a Peiping dentist. He should have stayed in bed.

After three weeks of suffering with a swollen jaw, Po decided to risk it. Like all good Communists, he toddled off to the state hospital in Peiping.

Like all dental patients, he heaved a sigh of relief when the dentist couldn't see him on the first trip. His fever wasn't high enough to get him into line with a horde of other patients. But the tooth nagged and a short time later, Po whipped up his courage and trotted off to the state hospital again. This time they admitted him.

There was a big crowd in the waiting room again, so, just to while away the time, Po picked up a thing called the "Suggestions Book," a Communist invention in which people inscribe their complaints about life in a workers' paradise.

"I began to read," said Po, in a feature article written for the Peiping People's Daily. And the more he read, the more his fever rose.

One patient wrote: "Today you smashed my tooth while pulling it out hard. Because the under part of the tooth was still there, operation was required to take it out. So you pulled apart the opening with knives and used drill, chisel and other instruments to extract it. Then in stitching the opened part you broke three needles."

"Then, you waited for a long time for new needles borrowed from other sections. This time, you snapped the needle point and what was worse, the point just disappeared. You searched inside my mouth for the broken piece and even used small hooks to probe the part operated on."

For a while, Po could read no further. He wondered if his ailing tooth really had to be taken out. Po turned the page and found the doctor's reply to the patients' complaints.

"Comrade, your remark is asacally correct. We accept it wholeheartedly."

"But the situation on that day requires explanation. Your tooth has had an abnormal growth and this makes our job difficult."

"As to the broken needles, they are homemade ones bought in Shanghai. As the needles are not of good quality, we wish here to apologize to you on behalf of the needle factory."

"As to the time spent in locating the broken needle point, it was entirely worthwhile, or if the

Rare Disease Upsets Balance Of Blood Cells

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
It is impossible to be certain exactly what is wrong with two people who have recently written me.

One says that the last time she donated a pint of blood she was informed that her "blood builds up too fast" and that she has too many red cells.

The other writes that a 36-year-old son has about a million more red cells than is normal.

Both ask for a discussion of what may be wrong.

Careful studies of the blood and the clinical symptoms are indicated for the two correspondents.

The letters, however, do raise the question of a human disorder known as polycythemia which is characterized by the presence of too many red blood cells.

There are two main kinds of polycythemia, one of which is considered secondary and occurs in people residing at very high altitudes. This is probably the result of the lowered quantities of oxygen available as one goes far above sea level.

The other is polycythemia vera, or true polycythemia, which is a disease. It may be discovered accidentally since some patients do not show any symptoms. It is most common after the age of 50.

So far, its cause has not been discovered.

When complaints are present they are likely to include some (but not all) of the following: easy fatigability, headaches, dizziness, disturbance of vision, aches and pains in various parts of the body, shortness of breath on mild effort, and a purplish-red (sometimes described as brick-red) discoloration of the skin and mucous membranes. Enlargement of the spleen is common and can generally be identified by the examining physician.

When the disease is suspected,

Stevenson Speeds Pace For Campaign

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson stepped up the pace of his speech writing today in preparation for his departure Monday on a campaign schedule that will keep him on the road almost continuously until election eve.

Facing the 1952 landslide team of Eisenhower and Nixon again, he has told friends that his hopes for victory lie in personal contacts with thousands of voters in every crucial state.

The Democratic presidential nominee got an idea of what he is up against last night as he watched a telecast of President Eisenhower's acceptance speech at the Republican National Convention. But he had no comment on his rival's talk before retiring at his sheep-farm home near here.

Stevenson is in continuous telephone contact with James A. Finnegan, his campaign manager, and chief strategist on what they call a program for the "greatest grass roots campaign in political history."

Stevenson is counting heavily on conferences he and Sen. Estes Kefauver, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, will hold next week with state and local party officials and workers in five regions of the country.

Other such conferences in additional areas will be set up for the following weeks. The idea is to get advice at the grass roots on what areas should be campaigned most thoroughly and on what issues to stress in an effort to rally Democratic voters to the polls.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Although there are vast areas of plains and flat lands in the United States, there are even more areas of rolling countryside and mountainous country. Adventurous people have set foot to conquer all frontiers. Mountains, rivers, swamps, and forests have all been worked over to make them accessible to human travel.

Roads have been cut on the sides of mountains. Rivers and chasms have been bridged. Swamps have been filled. Some of these roads are wide and smooth. Others are narrow, rough and hazardous. Some are steep and breathtaking.

Along almost all of the highways of America are warning signs which advise the tourist of curves, crossroads, and points of danger. Along the sides of the circuitous mountain routes are guardrails to protect people from accidentally driving off the road. A momentary turn of the car wheel would send a car hurtling hundreds of feet down a ravine. Death would claim the lives of many people if the guardrails were not present.

These protective devices furnish mental and emotional security as well as physical protection. Few people ever hit the guardrails, but the fact that the guardrails are in place relieves the mental suffering of untold imagined accidents.

The protective curbs along our highways are insignificant when we compare them with the spiritual protection which God has given to man in the form of prayer, forgiveness and promise of eternal life. We all fear the spiritual falls which might occur if we did not heed God's warnings. We must constantly read the spiritual road signs and live in accordance with the laws of love, hope and faith.

Sunday School Lesson Notes:

By William E. Gilroy, D.D.

The Bible, both in the Old Testament and the New, has a great deal to say about trials and temptations and also a great deal concerning enemies. Even the placid and peaceful Twenty-third Psalm refers to the "table prepared" in the presence of the Psalmist's enemies. One wonders just who those enemies may have been, or what was the occasion of their enmity.

In the religious outlook and literature of today, so far as I have observed, there is comparatively little concerning trials and temptations, and almost nothing concerning enemies.

We tend to take a rather complacent attitude toward life, and if there is much concern it is chiefly about such matters as inner peace and strength.

For some years I edited a monthly manual of daily devotions, which I believe was rather widely used by many, especially in association with morning prayer. Except for an occasional item I did not write the copy. It came from various contributors, mostly ministers, was discussed by an examining committee and then, subject to my editing, prepared for the press.

As I recall those various handbooks of devotion there was comparatively little that suggested any great stress and strain and nothing at all about enemies.

Nor, so far as I remember, was there much, if anything about temptation. There was much tending to assuage personal sorrow or affliction, much to help toward personal courage and wholesome living.

world, as it well might in this atomic age, were smashing down upon us, how many of us could say with the Psalmist (Psalm 46) "God is our refuge and strength, therefore will not we fear though the earth be removed."

The Bible, which is a book of crisis, is a book of profound faith. Faith has its depth in the depths of human need. Those who never experience or sense that need in their complacency probably never discover the depth of faith or the realities of divine help in trial and trouble.

Famed Civil War Waif Celebrates Birthday

FLORENCE, Ala. (AP)—A one-time Civil War waif who wrung from Abraham Lincoln an expression of pity celebrated his 102nd birthday yesterday.

George F. Mercer was a 7-year-old child at Fairfax, Va., when the Civil War broke out. His father joined the southern forces, but a brother enlisted in the Union army.

This so angered the father that he left George with friends at Raleigh, N.C.

The father died of typhoid fever and when the little boy finally reached Fairfax he found his home burned and his mother gone. He found her years later in Pittsburgh.

A Union general took George to Washington and introduced him to President Lincoln as an example of the tragedies inflicted by the struggle.

"This war must come to a close at once," said Lincoln.

Father Edward J. Flanagan started Boys Town at Omaha, Neb. in 1917.

Saturday Big Car Futurity Races At The State Fair

Thirty-Two Drivers Entered The 100-Mile Feature Race On The Mile Dirt Track; Time Trials Start at 1 P.M.

Thirty-one race drivers including sectional and regional champions from all over the Western United States will vie Saturday for the 70 coveted starting spots in this state's big car racing classic, the second annual Missouri Futurity.

The lineup for the five 10-mile qualifying heats which precede the 50-mile feature on the one-mile oval includes drivers from points ranging from Los Angeles to Kentucky, from Indiana to Texas and New Mexico.

Champions include Art George of Los Angeles, Pacific Coast, titleholder, in the famed "Poison Lil" Offy; "Wild" Willie Wildhaber, leading driver in the United Racing Assn. midwest circuit; Bobby Grim of Indianapolis, 1955 International Motor Contest Assn. champion; and Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, Southwest champion and winner of the 1956 Pike's Peak Hillclimb. Still another driver from auto racing's roster of standouts is Keith Andrews of Denver, an Indianapolis "500" entry this year. Ages range from the youthful 22 years of Kansas City's Don Hutchinson, 1955 IMCA "Rookie of the Year," to 52-year-old Fritz Tegtmeyer of Elgin, Ill., now in his 31st year of campaigning the nation's smokeheads.

The famed Offenhauser engine again dominates the entry list, with 11 of the 31 cars equipped with the costly precision powerplants.

Grim, who won last year's race in world record time, ranked as a favorite along with Jud Larson of Austin, Tex., and Kansas City, Mo., and Herschel Wagner of Hickman Mills, Mo. The latter two bested Grim in separate feature events on the fairgrounds half-mile oval last Saturday and Sunday.

Larson will drive the Offenhauser in which Jimmy Campbell of Oak Grove, Mo., established the present one-mile world record on the Sedalia track in 1953, while Wagner, who finished second in last year's initial Futurity, will drive the sparkling new Offy completed only a week ago by noted St. Louis race car builders Peter and Phil Mocca.

Time trials beginning at 1 p.m. will determine starting positions in the heats. Lineups will be inverted—fast cars at the back—and officials have pointed out that the handicap placed on the faster cars could easily make the 50 miles preliminary racing the most thrilling part of the program. Saturday's entries:

1. Jerry Blundy, GMC, Galesburg, Ill.
2. Paul James, Wayne Chevrolet, Fairbury, Neb.
3. Bobby Grim, Offenhauser, Indianapolis.
4. Herschel Wagner, Offenhauser, Hickman Mills, Mo.

Contenders Meet Tonight For Title

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Lightweight champion Wallace (Bud) Smith and challenger Joe Brown meet for the title tonight with confidence the keynote and the outcome more unpredictable than usual.

The 27-year-old Cincinnati-born champion it will be the second defense of the crown he won from Jimmy Carter in June 1955. He turned back Carter's attempt to regain the title last October.

And it represents the opportunity of a lifetime for the 30-year-old challenger from New Orleans, who whipped Smith in a nontitle 10-rounder at Houston last May.

Smith, loser of two other non-championship fights this year against promising Larry Boardman and former welterweight king Tony DeMarco, has a chance to enhance his standing as the 135-pound division ruler. While Brown is ranked only eighth among contenders, he is regarded as a prime test.

The odds-makers have refrained from installing either Negro boxer as favorite. It's 5-6 and take your pick.

Smith's record shows 33 victories, 14 losses and 5 draws with 18 knockouts. His left hook is regarded as one of the best in the business and is expected to give Brown the most trouble.

The fancy-boxing Brown has a record of 60 victories, 14 losses and 8 draws, but he has shown a tendency to "blow" the big ones. NBC will telecast and broadcast at 10 p.m., EDT.

Pastrano, McMurty Fight Tonight

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Young Willie Pastrano, banking on his boxing, faces slugging Irish Pat McMurty of Tacoma in a 10-round outdoor heavyweight fight here tonight.

Both are expected to weigh around 182 pounds. Pastrano, of New Orleans is favored on the basis of his boxing skill and his greater experience, despite his age—20—he holds Ring magazine's No. 5 world heavyweight ranking and is rated No. 6 by the National Boxing Assn.

SPORTS

BIDS IN FUTURITY—Art George, 1955 Pacific Coast champion from Los Angeles, will be at the wheel of the famed "Poison Lil" Offenhauser in the Missouri Futurity 50-mile big car race Saturday afternoon. George feels the big Indianapolis car, driven at the Speedway, home of the 500-mile race, by Duke Nalon and the late Rex Mays, will be in its element on the sweeping curves of the State Fair mile track.

A two-run fifth-inning homer by Washington Roy Sievers—his 25th to tie a club record he set last season—wiped out a 3-2 Kansas City advantage and the Senators went on to a 5-3 victory over the A's last night at Griffith Stadium.

SAFETY PRECAUTION—Bobby Grim, one of the favorites in Saturday's Missouri Futurity for big cars scheduled over the 30-mile distance at the Missouri State Fairgrounds one-mile oval, here dips a jacket into a quick-drying fireproofing solution. Addition of this new safety feature has helped to maintain the outstanding safety record of the International Motor Contest Association, which sanctions more dirt track events yearly than any other major governing body of its kind.

Can't Make Up Mind On His Invitations

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (AP)—Mayor Philip G. Wilmer wants to invite two persons to attend the town's 250th anniversary celebration October 5-13, but he doesn't know who they are.

Wilmer and celebration officials are looking for the nearest living descendants of two people who had a hand in the town's founding in 1706. They were Benedict Leonard Calvert, Baron of Baltimore, the 14th Lord Baltimore, who was Lord Proprietor of Maryland from 1679 to 1715, and Col. John Seymour, Colonial Governor of Maryland from 1704 to 1709.

New Husky He-Man Clothes Appeal to Big Men on Campus

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

The sportin' look is the thing for young men returning to high school and college this fall.

There's nothing effete about the new campus clothes. They're husky and practical, made to stand the gauntlet of student life and also thoughtfully planned to require a minimum of upkeep. It is a long-recognized fact that students don't get around to having their clothes cleaned as often as their mothers would like it. So manufacturers have turned out campus clothes this year that resist soil and rumpling, keep their rugged good looks through the exigencies of school life.

There are handsome new bulky-knit sweaters for male campus wear this fall in plain or jacquard weaves and in practical dark colors, dark colors, husky tweeds and continental cut. Black and brown is a favorite color combination.

Also required equipment in any campus wardrobe is a wind-breaker jacket that can be zipped on and off in 30 seconds flat, for making that 8 o'clock class. Favorites are in such fabrics as nylon or dacron in close taffeta weave, with fleece lining.

States Rights Group Pushes Its Candidates

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — States Rights who don't like either the Republican or Democratic ticket will meet next month in Memphis, Tenn., to work out their own presidential campaign plans.

Indications the States Rights seek to broaden their scope were seen in the absence of mention of segregation and other regional issues in the announcement after an unannounced conference here yesterday.

The States Rights still aren't saying who their standard bearer will be. The Louisiana faction has endorsed former Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews, a Tennessee man said Andrews, who now advocates abolishing the income tax, was among prospective nominees discussed at Jackson.

The Jackson meeting was at a downtown hotel. Reporters were not admitted and most men leaving and entering wouldn't give their names or say what the meeting was about.

At its windup, however, Circuit Judge M. M. McGowan of Jackson typed a statement for reporters.

It said the meeting brought together representatives of s-e-v-e-n Southern states "interested in placing on the ballot on Nov. 6 presidential electors pledged to support candidates for president and vice president who are dedicated to state rights and constitutional government."

Sought Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Tennessee and Arkansas had representatives there for that purpose, he said. He added, without explaining why they were listed separately, that "Virginia and Florida had authorized representatives present."

The Sept. 14-15 Memphis meeting was called "to coordinate the efforts of all of the states, both North and South, which have already or are now preparing to join the splinter movement."

McGowan has said the States Rights hope to gain a "balance of power" in the Electoral College and throw the presidential election into the U. S. House of Representatives, where each state has one vote.

Score Card Incident Brings Eye Surgery For James Farley

NEW YORK (AP)—James A. Farley, who was hit in the face by a flying scorecard at the Democratic convention, underwent an emergency operation on his right eye yesterday.

Farley's office said later that, barring complications, his eyesight will not be impaired.

The former Postmaster general and Democratic national chairman was reported "resting comfortably" after the operation at Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital.

The operation was "for the correction of a detached retina," Farley's office said.

Farley, 68, was hit in the face by a card thrown in the crowd in the burst of enthusiasm last Thursday night when Adlai E. Stevenson was nominated for president in Chicago.

The statement by Farley's office said:

"The impact of the blow was not at first apparent, but over the weekend the serious condition of Mr. Farley's eye became so critical that by Tuesday afternoon it was evident surgery would be immediately necessary."

Queen, Prince Report To Dutch People Marital Status Okay

THE HAGUE (AP)—Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard reported to the Dutch people today that they've patched up their "difficulties" and "now look forward to the future with confidence."

The brief, joint statement was in effect the royal couple's denial of rumors that they were heading for a divorce — or that the Queen might abdicate — because of Juliana's close association with a 61-year-old faith healer, Miss Greet Hofmans.

An authoritative source said the Queen has ended her association with the faith healer, to whom she originally looked for treatment of her partly blinded youngest daughter, Princess Maria Cristina.

A few hours before their communiqué was issued, the 47-year-old monarch and her 45-year-old prince took a plane for a short holiday on the Greek island of Corfu with Greece's King Paul and Frederika.

'Joe Smiths' Become Press Search Now

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Interview aboard a San Francisco cable car:

"Excuse me, sir, but I heard you say your name was Joe Smith and—"

"Yeah, I know. You're one of them newspaper guys. They been pesterin' me and every Joe Smith in the country. Get lost."

"Well, naturally, sir, since a Joe Smith was put in nomination, or almost in nomination, by a Nebraska delegate at the Republican convention the other night—"

"Do you know how many Joe Smiths there are in this country, buster? I looked it up. There are 1,096,203 of us. So why pick on me?"

"Well, I just thought—"

"Think again. I decline the nomination."

"Don't you want to be vice president?"

"Nah. I'm shootin' the works. Like Happy Chandler said at Chicago, I'm goin' for the roses. That's a racin' term, in case you don't get it. Kentucky Derby, like. It means I'm out for the top spot."

"You mean you're a candidate for president, Mr. Smith? I don't mean to downgrade you, but the nominees for this year seem to have been selected. And frankly, I didn't hear your name mentioned—even as a dark horse."

"Ah, what do those politicians know about politics? I'll have them coming to me yet. On their knees."

"Then you—er—have a program that you think will capture the imagination of the masses, Mr. Smith?"

"Call me Joe, buddy. Sure I got a program. It'll sweep all 48 states."

"May I inquire, Joe—?"

"Why inquire? I'll tell you. I'm just goin' to sit tight. Won't make no speeches."

"Well, it may be true that after the two conventions people are a little tired of speeches, but—"

"As I was sayin' before I was so rudely interrupted, I'm goin' to let other people do the campaignin' for me, see? I figure that with all the publicity I got out of this convention, all sorts of clowns will be goin' around writin' 'Joe Smith for president' on every blank wall."

"Hmmm. You mean like the 'Kilroy was here' gag after World War II?"

"You ain't as stupid as you look."

buster. I figure it'll be worth 10 million dollars in free publicity. Let those other guys campaign their heads off. Who the people goin' to vote for? The guy whose name they see the most. That's me."

"One thing bothers me, Joe. Suppose a Joe Smith does get elected. How are you going to prove you're the right Joe Smith?"

"Who cares? I'm just runnin' for the fun of it. I wouldn't take the job if you gave me the White House."

"Why not, Joe?"

"No room for advancement."

Cool and Dry Weather Seen For Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pleasant weather—a little cool and dry—was the outlook for Midwest and Northeast sections of the country today.

A fresh batch of cool air moved southward from Canada over the north central part of the country. It extended over the Great Lakes region, southwestward to Missouri and westward to the Dakotas. The cooling breezes were headed eastward and were expected to spread through the Ohio Valley to western Pennsylvania and New York during the day.

During the night there was a warming trend from Arkansas and Louisiana eastward to the coast and northeastward through the Ohio Valley to western Pennsylvania and New York during the day.

During the night there was a warming trend from Arkansas and Louisiana eastward to the coast and northeastward through the Ohio Valley and the North Atlantic Coast states.

Showers and thundershowers that hit areas ahead of the cool air moving eastward from the Great Lakes region diminished during the night. However, moderate rainfall was reported from Ohio northeastward through Pennsylvania and New York.
